Jerry Cook

I Hurt On The Other Side / Take What I've Got

Capitol : P 5981 DJ (45s)

Inspirational times...

An utterly iconic slab of Northern Soul in it's least seen most wanted format...

A legendary 45 that inspired gymnastic overload on the dancefloors of The Catacombs, The Torch, The Mecca and every other pre-Wigan Casino Club with a DJ lucky enough to own a copy. It was at one stage the best loved stomper on the scene. Not only to dance to, but also on those lengthy forays north in our white transit. It triggered the Dark Riddim, shite to bust into extraordinary changes transit, it triggered the Pork Pieville choir to bust into caterwauling choruses accompanied with synchronised arm waving in the cram-packed, mattress lined acoustic space called the back of our van.

Not exactly Carnegie Hall but we considered our singing along to" Simon Soussan's sales tape to be pure Northern Soul opera!

No other song at the time triggered this affect of near Welsh Male Voice Choir comradeship, it was not only an unforgettable Northern Soul moment, it actually became a Saturday excursion ritual. Nobody ever grew tired of hearing Jerry Cook's blistering voice, defiantly resounding Sidney Barnes & J. J. Jackson's man-in-denial lyrics.

" I Hurt On The Other Side, But I Cry In Solitude"

" I Hurt On The Other Side, But I Keep My Tears From View"

Northern Soul poetry riding a fanfare of brass and Arthur Writing insistent guitar pulses..

This is why 1000's and 1000's of teenagers travelled 100's of miles every weekend to hear this spine-tingling Soul music.. and have now spent the rest of their lives dedicated to it..

THIS IS NORTHERN SOUL!... something unforgettably inspirational!

Condition Report

Two clean promo labels, vinyl reveals only fine soft surface hairlines under direct light. Plays crisp, clean loud and true.

You've Got Your Mind On Other Things / Until You - MANSHIP MINT

RCA : 47-9468 DJ (45s)

MANSHIP MINT FOR CHRISTMAS

Another great Lee Porter and Ronnie Miller Northern Soul classic, so very classic in fact, it requires no lengthy review from us..

The moment you clicked the soundfile - visions of vested muscular dancefloor gymnasts invade your head with backdrops, spins and splits. Yet again igniting lustful-recall of spiralling circle skirts making their ascent up the young thighs of Soul girls in rapture..(I know I should stop mentioning it)

... was it only me in the 70's who went to the allnitters for more than just the music?

A record with the power to paint vivid dancefloor memories of tangible Northern Soul dancefloor euphoria ..and all the fashions, style and exuberance that went

Condition Report

MINT previously un played vinyl, nice clean labels, just the merest of tiny sticker residue darkening on the a-side top left. Scrutinize the label image for this freckle on it's glorious perfection.

Seattle Pure Dymomite

I Wonder Love / I Wanna Love You (Let Me Love You)

One World Records : no # (45s)

I just adore this tune, presented by an 8 man gathering from Seattle. written by a young hopeful called Paul Anderson. Pre-disco explosion this tune drifts subtly of a breeze of pour Soul leaving you wating another listen, because something about it is addictive.

The group's debut single, was such a naïve affair as they dipped their toes into releasing their very own 45. The band completely forgot the to give the release a label number, with little idea of how to promote it. This fabulous disc just fell through the cracks of the music world into instant obscurity. Today it is rarely heard or seen for sale. But we consider it as a sleeping giant...a snoozing jewel just waiting for the right DJ to present it.

A classy blend of Crossover Northern Soul with hints of it's more modern roots. The pleading lead vocal is cradled by a gathering of shrill girls as the quintet enrich proceedings with subtle horns and Jazzy/Funk guitar interludes.. this is real CLASS! Bravely ignoring all the disco influences flooding North America the end product leaves you crabbing for another listen. I'm on my 4th consecutive play and I'm loving it more and more on ever drop.

Perched and ready for Sunday chill exposure and beyond... after far to little exposure when first discovered for such Soulful quality...

Sue Lynne

Don't Pity Me / You

RCA : 1822 (45s)

Listen...and now you're catapulted back to a mid-seventies dancefloor, surrounded by nubile soul-girls spinning around, circle skirts propelled up to their waist. A sight that has never left the euphoric recall from my youth. This UK only 45, is still is a trigger for enthusiastic exuberance today, as Chris Andrews again proves himself one of Britain's most capable writer / producers ever.

This 1969 Brit 45, completely failed upon release, only to be discovered during the frenzied rifling of market stalls, second hand shops in Manchester where Dave McCadden & Steve "Sis" Sayle actually found a copy each at different locations. It was taken to Wigan Casino that weekend for it's first airing. A few others were discovered as word spread, by those relentless countrywide hoards trying to discover the next big tune for the scene that was an exclusive English release. Joining Jason Knight - Love Is Getting Stronger, Kiki Dee - On A Magic Carpet Ride, Tammy St. John - Nobody Knows What's Going On In My Mind But Me, Lorraine Silver - Lost Summer Love, Jackie Trent - You Baby etc. etc. British built songs that nose-dived upon release but had become Northern Soul club favourites, they were out there, they just had to be found. The rest is NS history.

The Sue Lynne "find" was an instant allniter hit...to witness drinks parked on the tables, seats vacated and the dancefloor swell to the point of spilling over on the carpeted perimeter.. was a sight to behold. But nothing like the gaggle of beautiful girls elevating their skirts in spinning delight... arms raised and those spinning dolls of desire concentrated every man's eyes in the room.

Near 45 years later this 45 has become a very challenging disc to find, especially in fine clean condition...those hoards of crate-digging optimistic Soulies have long since been dispirited by 10,000th orange RCA by the Archies or Elvis 45 they have momentarily paused over..

Today this is a RARE offering but still provokes the same explosive dancefloor response...

Tammi Terrell

Irresistible / 1968 USA white demo
Motown : MS 652 DJ (LP)

Motown's most gorgeous of Sisters with her magnificent solo album in its rarest format by far. A 1968 white demo in fine clean condition.

This much-loved and solitary Tammi Terrell album released less than 2 years before her tragic, untimely death at the tender age of 24 years of age. Robbing the Soul World and Motown their most photogenic and sincere female vocalist. Her death sending Marvin Gaye into a deep mourning that triggered one the greatest albums ever made, when he created "What's Going On" with Tammi very much in his mind.

This LP leaves all other Motown vocalists in the shade of has the pureness of her voice demands your 100% attention. With Harvey Fuqua & Johnny Bristol rich productions cradling this lady from one standout tune to another.

From as Northern Soul standpoint there are few better Motown NS dance tune than the LP only; "Tears At The End Of A Love Affair" or the slick "Come On And See Me", her electrifying version of "This Old Heart Of Mine" or her least known Northern Soul dancer "I Can't Stop Now" plus the stunning mid-paced NS stroller "Just Too Much To Hope For" beautifully dovetailing into the next two tracks..with "I Can't Go On Without You" a killer sad song to finish this magnificent album with.

making it truly ... IRRESTISTIBLE!
